TOOLS SUGGESTED

9/64", 3/32" Allen wrenches, Snap-on A173 Radiator hose tool, or #1 Phillips screwdriver

PROCEDURE AVERAGE TIME: 10 MINUTES

STEP 1 With a Snap-On A-173 Radiator hose tool or #1 Phillips screwdriver, remove the rubber from the stock shift peg. This rubber may also be cut off if you are certain you will never be reinstalling it.

STEP 2 With the new shift peg cover separated in two halves, "sandwich" the top and bottom covers around the bare shift peg. The half with the set screw is the back half.

STEP 3 Make sure the rubber pads are protruding through the openings evenly. Secure the halves together with the two included 8/32 x .313 Socket heads.

STEP 4 The free play may be removed by tightening the set screw on the back cover half. Do not over tighten. On Honda Sabre models, this set screw will "wedge" next to the bare shift peg.

Ride On!
